

Helping you to support those affected by cancer during the Coronavirus pandemic

In what is an extremely difficult time in primary care, we appreciate you may not have as much time to provide support and respond to specific concerns from patients. Macmillan Cancer Support wants to help take some of the pressure away from you during this time. Listed below are our most important support & information services.

- Our website is a source of reliable information and is the gateway to the Coronavirus Hub, an up-to-date source of information for people living with cancer, as well as Macmillan supporters and volunteers (www.macmillan.org.uk) we have also developed a source of up to date guidance about the Corona virus - <https://www.macmillan.org.uk/coronavirus/cancer-and-coronavirus>
- We are prioritising the continued running of the Macmillan Support Line (0808 808 00 00, now open Mon – Fri, 9am – 5pm) to provide practical, emotional and financial information & advice. We will make every effort to resume normal opening hours (Mon - Sun, 8am – 8pm) as soon as possible
- The Macmillan Online Community can be accessed by way of our main website, and is where thousands of people across the globe connect and give each other invaluable emotional and peer support 24/7 (<https://community.macmillan.org.uk/home>)
- Macmillan Grants are one-off means-tested payments to help with the extra costs that living with cancer can bring. Health & social care professionals can apply on behalf of PABC online (<https://www.macmillan.org.uk/cancer-information-and-support/get-help/financial-help/macmillan-grants>)
- be.Macmillan – Primary care workers can continue to order a wealth of free cancer information, resources and merchandise through our be.Macmillan website (<https://be.macmillan.org.uk>)
